About Papa Joe's Bakehouse

Papa Joe's Bakehouse began baking in 1996 as part retail outlet and part bread vendor. It offered the cafe's as well as residents of Sydney a daily supply of over 140 different types of fresh bread. It was soon clear that our banana bread quickly became the star of the show, so in 2003, Papa Joe's moved into a larger food facility and began full scale production.

Continuing with our original home-style recipe, Papa Joe's banana breads are available nationally in our 1.8kg cafe size for wholesale, the 900g family size for retail fruit markets, and the 700g loaves/500g packets are available at selected independent supermarkets such as IGA and Supabarn.
